HELP WANTED

Open positions in the Reblooming Iris Society. Please consider stepping up.

Area Director for Central Area which includes Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota. AIS Regions: 18 and 21

Duties: Serve on the RIS Board, advise the president and the editor of the RIS Recorder of any items or activities of interest. Encourage in your area, fall shows, exhibitions, and garden tours for reblooming irises. Promote programs to educate the public and affiliates about reblooming irises. Submit a report to the editor for publication in each edition of the Recorder. Collect and send a rebloom report to the editors of the RIS Recorder and RIS Annual Rebloom Report.

RIS Rebloom Recorder* Editor

Duties: Be a voting member of the RIS Board. Publish the Recorder twice a year, in spring and fall. The editor may write and invite others to write articles. Each issue of the Recorder should include reports from RIS officers, area directors, and the editor of the Rebloom Report. It would be helpful if the editor would work with area directors improving the scope of their twice-yearly reports. The editor will report to the RIS Board twice a year about current and future publications. To improve the Recorder, the editor is encouraged to add regular columns, features, regional garden reports, interviews with hybridizers, and highlight new culture techniques. The editor should have a working knowledge of MS Publisher, EXCEL, and bulk internet mailing.

AIS POPULARITY POLL

In November, The American Iris Society (AIS) will open a popularity poll for irises. This poll will be conducted online and will permit votes for all classes of irises. Members and non-members of AIS will be able to vote for the irises that grow best in their area. Please keep a look out for more information about the popularity poll in News and Notes, the AIS digital, monthly newsletter. By the way, sometimes News and Notes ends up in the SPAM folder; look for it there!

Rebloom Recorder* is the publication of the Reblooming Iris Society

It is published twice a year

DEADLINES for receipt of Rebloom Recorder materials by the Editor are:

March issue deadline is 31 JANUARY. August issue deadline is 30 JUNE.

Notes From The President

Hello to all members,

I am Anita Moran your new Reblooming Iris Society president. Now that we are in the midst of the summer heat, I hope you will have a chance to read and enjoy this message when you take a rest from the heat. As we move forward, I hope to do things a little differently. I would like to hold two RIS Board meeting a year over the Zoom platform, but not just the Board will be invited. Although there will be reports from various board members, I would also like to invite all of you to the meetings. It is my belief that the more minds in attendance will mean more ideas. New ideas are essential for any group to become stronger, more active and more responsive to its members. We all want the RIS to thrive and move forward.

First order of business is filling two open positions. We need a new director for the Central Region and a new editor for the Rebloom Recorder. Descriptions of each position are on the new page, “Announcements” in the Rebloom Recorder. The Reblooming Iris Society (RIS) has two publications: the Rebloom Recorder, the twice yearly newsletter and the annual Rebloom Report, a compilation of the year’s rebloom data. During the Montana Convention, we were lucky to find a volunteer to be editor of the annual Rebloom Report, Sarah Sue Miller of the Charlotte Iris Society in Charlotte, North Carolina. Currently, Sarah is working on our current checklist, making it searchable. When she is finished, I am hoping to put the checklist online, making it available to everyone. She will also be updating the AIS Encyclopedia (the wiki) with rebloom information for those irises reporting rebloom in a new area. We will still have reports of rebloom from our area directors. Remember to send your own rebloom report to your area director or to Sarah at risrebloomrpt@gmail.com. Please ask your family, friends and neighbors to also fill out rebloom reports.

If you are currently not an AIS judge, please consider taking that path. Being a judge allows you to vote the AIS Ballot which determines the Dykes Medal winner along with all the other iris garden winners. AIS judges also get credit for teaching judges training classes, and who better to teach reblooming iris judges training classes than reblooming judges.

If you have suggestions and ideas for the Reblooming Iris Society, please feel free to email me at pilmore22@gmail.com. I’m all into new ideas. Have a wonderful fall and enjoy your rebloom.

TYPES OF REBLOOM

Cyclic Rebloomers - Most common, with two distinct cycles of bloom.

TB 'Silver Dividends' (Zurbrigg 1989)

Multiple Blooming Iris – sends up bloom stalks repeatedly at any time throughout the growing season.

SPEC 'Forest Haimati' (Moran 2010)

Repeat Rebloomers –produce additional bloom stalks with some regularity immediately following or shortly after spring bloom

SIB 'Encore Performance' (Hollingworth 2010)

From The Editor

Happy Gardening all!

I am your acting Rebloom Recorder editor. First, I want to thank Mary Soens Platner for her five years as the editor of the Rebloom Recorder.

This is your publication. I can only publish it with your help, ideas, and input. Let us see your gardens. How is that new rebloomer doing for you? Did a non-reblooming iris rebloom in your garden? Do you have questions about reblooming iris? Please send your observations, photos, and questions to me and I will get the answers for you.

Many of us do not have visitors to our gardens or even have articles about our gardens for others to enjoy. Me, I always wanted an iris maze, so I made one. Then I got into tire art which I saw on YouTube. Although I have only made two tire sculptures, I have many more planned. There were lots of tires on my property when I bought it. Maybe your neighbor has a special garden, think about writing a short article about it. Or perhaps you visited a garden while you were traveling and want to share your experience. If you worry about your writing, please do not. We have editors who will spruce up your article. Just send it to me along with a few photos. Before publishing your article, we will send a final draft back to you for your approval.

I know everyone is interested in those irises that rebloom in your area. But the only way to know what reblooms is if people report rebloom from their area. I am working on a rebloom report form that will be easy to use. Until that form is ready, use the form on page 17. Copy it, fill it out, and send it to our new Rebloom Report editor, Sarah Sue Miller at RisRebloomRPT@gmail.com.

Please enjoy this edition and let me know what you would like to see.

Sporadic Rebloomers - Unpredictably produce bloom stalks at varying times during the growing season.

(MDB) 'Zheng Elf' (Moran 2020) [She ► reblooms when ever she wants]

Secondary Stalk Rebloomers - Send up a second stalk from the same rhizome during the same growing season. RARE

(IB) 'Bedtime Story' (Ritchie 1982) [Has produced 4 stalks on one rhizome] ►

Area Director Reports

Before you read these reports please understand we are doing things differently. I asked for these report sooner than perhaps they were ready to report. I hope those who provided data will submit the rest of their rebloom at the end of the growing season.

Northwest Region Director
& Vice President of the Reblooming Iris Society
Delane H Langton 8-13-2025

Wow where to start? We hosted the AIS National Convention of the American Iris Society in Billings, Montana, the week of June 2nd, 2025. After three years of preparation, it was a huge success. I was elected vice president at the meeting of the Reblooming Iris Society. Jane and I ended up sick for a month after the convention with the Covid cough and no energy. The weeds got away from us, but the iris don't seem to mind. We are 3 inches ahead on moisture and haven't had a single day over 100 degrees. In a normal year, we would have about three. Rebloom began right on time in our zone 4b on June 17th when 'Autumn Jester' (Chapman 2000) started the show and continues into August as I write this. We are about 30 varieties into our rebloom, which goes continuously until freeze up in November. Please continue to document and send in your rebloom reports. I think most of you have found the rebloom information on the wiki listings. It certainly makes it easier to see who reblooms where.

It was very sad to hear of Mike Lockatell's passing. We have one of his guest iris seedlings reblooming as we speak. I'll investigate the possibility of introducing it for him in the future. We also have one of our reblooming seedlings for the second year. It was a cross of 'Starring Encore' (D. Spoon 2008) X 'November Sun' (Mann 2021). Both are early rebloomers for us. We also sell cold zone early rebloomers at eagleridgeiris.com. Even though it says closed, you might sneak an order in; we can still get a few more shipped by Labor Day week. We will reopen at Christmas for the 2026 season.

'Revitalize' Sutton 2022

Last fall/winter my rebloomers did great and I had over 40 rebloom in my yard. Then in the spring when it was time for the iris shows to start more decided to bloom so I was able to enter them. At the Lonestar Iris Society in Rico my first 3 were 'Autumn Explosion' (Tasco 2013), 'Revitalize' (Sutton 2022) and 'Golden Road' (Sutton 1997). I entered them in the single blossom category. Its not a requirement, but on the entry tag I always put RE so everyone knows its a rebloomer. My 'Autumn Explosion' (Tasco 2013), won Best Single Blossom for the show! At the Fort Worth Iris & Daylily society there were 13 different rebloomers entered into the show: 'Blatant' (Byers 1990), 'Autumn Thunder' (G. Sutton 2000), the 'Fall Line' IB (M. Sutton 2009), 'Lest We Forget' (G. Sutton 2008), 'Buckwheat' (Byers 1989), 'Red Hot Chili' IB (M. Sutton 2008), 'Echo Location' (Wilkerson 2007), 'Ozark Rebounder' (Nicodemus 2003), 'Autumn Nectar' (Crump 2011), 'Bernice's Legacy' (Miller 2000), 'Clarence' (Zurbrigg 1991), 'Double Platinum' (Ghio 2012). [My 'Double Platinum' won best pink] and 'Autumn Explosion' (Tasco 2013), [mine won first place for the single blossom]. In Cleburne at the Johnson County Iris & Daylily Society's show the only rebloomer I was able to take was 'Candy Apple Classic' (Maryott 1999). This iris smells so sweet.

SOME IRIS WORLD PERSONALITIES

by Hortus Veritas

Reprint from Region 4 Newscast V37-1 1995. Some iris names have been changed to comply with rebloom

It has been some years since I submitted an article for Newscast. Believing that a new editor deserves everyone's support, I thought it might be timely for me to share my observations on some famous personalities in the world of irises. Oldtimers in our society are sure to recognize some, if not all, of these beloved eccentrics. Still, these people do not often see their names in print, or their virtues sufficiently praised. So, here are some of my favorite "friends":

Mrs. Igota Secret Igota Secret is an institution. (Or is it that she used to be in an institution? I forget, but bear with me.) Igota has been working on a secret genetic breakthrough in her iris breeding program for about 30 years. In any discussion of hybridizing, Igota is quick to refute all of the views and "facts" of others. Her experience is overwhelming. Unfortunately, she never reveals why you are mistaken—she just tells you that you're wrong. Igota has some magnificent seedlings of a most unusual type. Nobody but Igota has ever seen these wonderful seedlings, but she loves describing them and will spend hours doing so. One of Igota's strongest assertions is that 'Whole Cloth' (Cook 1958) is an overrated parent. She also is quick to maintain that all irises descended from 'Whole Cloth' (Cook 1958) are inferior. At any meeting of the local iris society, Igota knows that every proposed activity is doomed to failure. Her smile is all-knowing. Her secrets are limitless.

Mrs. T. B. Only In the eyes of Mrs. T. B. Only, there is only one type of iris tall bearded! She is of course a garden judge. She doesn't grow anything but TBs, doesn't read anything about other types of irises, and has never voted to give an iris an award if it failed to be a TB. Mrs. Only once had a nervous breakdown at an iris show she was judging with two other judges. Outvoted, she could not endure the tragedy when a standard dwarf bearded iris was chosen as Queen of the Show. She has never fully recovered from the pain of this event. Mrs. Only hates rebloomers and space age irises. She considers both of these types of irises to be "against nature." She refers to Japanese irises as "those freaks" and calls Siberians "those dinky wild things." Some years ago when 'Brown Lasso' (Buckles 1975) a border bearded iris, won the Dykes Medal, Mrs. Only wrote a letter of resignation from AIS. Upon second thought, however, she tore the letter up instead of mailing it. No, she felt herself duty bound to stay in there and maintain the standards of the organization. And that she does. In any group of people with whom Mrs. T. B. Only associates, it is likely that similar views will prevail. After all, Mrs. Only will not associate with anyone who disagrees with her views, which she received through divine revelation.

Mr. Hi Quality Mr. Hi Quality only grows 20 iris cultivars, and they are always the newest, most expensive, and, of course, of the highest quality. No inferior iris would ever be allowed in Hi's garden. How sad, Hi believes, that others grow such old, inferior things. If you tell Hi that you like a particular pink iris, be prepared for him to tell you all its many faults (unless it is the pink one that he is currently growing). For Hi, there are only three hybridizers whose irises are worthy of growing. He would not even consider growing an iris by some other hybridizer. Hi is also a judge. He does not believe in giving blue ribbons to irises that are not, in his view, the best. Thus, a perfect specimen of last year's Dykes winner, which he did not vote for or approve, will never get a blue ribbon if he can prevent it. Hi has never grown 'Vanity' (Hager 1976). As Hi will be quick to tell you, "That iris will never get within ten miles of my garden."

by Hortus Veritas

Miss Phulla Woe Phulla Woe is destined to failure. Her trials and tribulations know no end. They are of monumental proportions. No one has ever had such infestations of iris borer (And she has them every year)! And the iris borers who come to Miss Woe's garden are not of the ordinary size or typical constitution. They are so large that they could easily be mistaken for boa constrictors. They drink Cygon cocktails for breakfast and only grow larger. Although Phulla Woe lives on the East coast where scorch is virtually unheard of, her garden is periodically beset by this ravenous disease. Every year's bloom is worse than last year's. Rot is always rampant in her irises. It is a special type of rot that has escaped from the iris beds and attacked her old oak trees. Fungi and blights peculiar to Central Asia have somehow made it into Phulla's garden. There are, of course, no cures for these rare diseases. When one visits Miss Woe's garden it is always immaculately maintained. Her irises are always grown to perfection. No one has ever seen a trace of rust on a leaf or a hole in a rhizome. A sickly plant? Not likely. Every year Phulla Woe wins the Sweepstakes Award at the local show, and her den is wallpapered with Best Specimen rosettes. Obviously, her iris diseases and pests are invisible—which makes them even more difficult to combat. Alas, next year is sure to be even worse.

Mr. A. Chievment Mr. A. Chievment has been breeding and introducing irises for an number of years. He introduces lots of irises. And he has never introduced that was short of being the best in its color class or a "break" of great significance. A typical description of one of Mr. Chievment's irises taken from his catalogue: 'White Rainbow Ribbons (Chievment 94). TB, 36", EML. Gorgeous, heavily ruffled, unique in new shades of white with highlights of blue, red, purple, cranberry, apricot, primrose and orange. Heavy wax-like substance and magnificent classic branching. There are 15 to 18 buds per stalk. Incredible vigor and rapid increase. Perfect in clump and show bench. Multicolored haft markings are distinctive and add to overall effect of this outstanding color break. This is the best of the whites. (Unnamed seedling X sib.) $40.00" Alas, those of us who bought Mr. Chievment's last introduction which was also advertised as "best of the whites" (an iris called Almost Virginal) are now behind the times. Almost Virginal is now passe. Of course, it never bloomed for me in the two years I grew it. Did not increase. Was beset with rot. And has long since disappeared from my garden. Alas, A. Chievment will be sure to introduce another "best of the whites" next year...and a "best of the yellows", "best of the reds," etc. These irises will not receive any awards from AIS because, as Mr. Chievment explains, "The judges don't like me." He is actually a quite pleasant fellows but not one to whom I shall be sending any more $40.00 checks.

Membership Report Fall 2025

Currently we have 215 members. There are 23 members who have not renewed this year. Two emails were sent to each person, and if an email was not delivered, a postcard was sent. If these 23 are removed for non-renewal, our membership would be 192.

Life Members=25

In 2024 we had 36 new members and 37 renewals. Four dropped for nonrenewal.

For 2025 to date: new members =16, renewals = 8, 23 failing to renew.

And sadly, the passing of Mike Lockett.

Most members are paying through the AIS website, making tracking much simpler.

I would like to request that the AIS membership enrollment webpage require phone numbers. If an email address changes and the membership chair cannot be contacted online, it would be much faster and simpler to call and ask for the correct information. Sending postcards seems to work about 25% of the time. It would take the guesswork out of record-keeping if a member does not want to renew.

Rebloom Checklist Editor Report

Hello my friends.

I have officially separated the 4K+ entries by the registration year listed (see the sample below) and am now working on pulling out additional sortable sections. The fields we choose to create are really the fields we find most helpful for sorting data. There are many great benefits a formal database has over a spreadsheet. I recommend we go with AirTable as it can scale with us and is the right price for small projects (free). I can create a form for anyone to answer questions, or I enter data after getting notice from a regional report. There are pros and cons to both Excel and AirTable.

I like working with AirTable as it feels like a spreadsheet and can import/export to an Excel if that is what one is accustomed to. Let me know what field titles would be helpful or if I have some that should be modified. "Wouldn't it be cool if...." Let's dream what information would help both hybridizers and lay gardeners. I am thinking about adding hyperlinks from our data to the iris wiki?

Questions that these columns sorted could quickly answer:

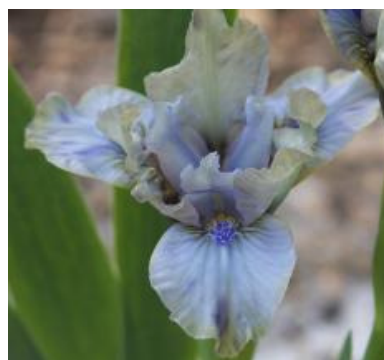

- What are all the iris that are known to grow in my region and bloom very early?
- Who are the hybridizers who work in the southern USA states? XYZ (I think we should have their names as they appear in the official AIS registration database).
- How many irises in my region were registered between the years of 19xx-20xx? What year was this iris registered? (this is what was in the info field)

- What year was this iris introduced? (I think this is important as awards are based off this data, correct? This is what I utilize on all my garden markers)
- What MDBs by Paul Black are considered historic?
- Show me all the iris with red, yellow, plicata, self, style arms yellow etc.

Let me know your thoughts.

Sarah Sue Miller
